SCANDINAVIANS PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN RAILWAY BUILDING

Aver 20,000 Are Now at Work on Different Lines in the Three Prairie Provinces—Invariably Make a Success as Small Contractors—Many Work All Winter

Scandinavians are furnishing the men Oleson and Larson, Frantz Petersen, G. M. Kullander and others, they will do the work themselves and won't have to pay the freight of way between Moose Lake and Telet Juan Gaete on the Prairies river.

"The Scandinavians are the best contractors in the country," he said. "They have made a study of the lives of people of their native country in Canada and it is safe to say that they can tell more about the Scandinavian here than any other one man."

He was in Edmonton yesterday in the interest of the construction of what he calls his master, a 20-story hotel, the Royal George hotel yesterday afternoon, he told something of the work the people of Norway and Sweden are accomplishing throughout the Dominion.

"There are 20,000 Scandinavians at work today in the various lines of railway construction, the Canadian and British Columbia," he said. "You will find them wherever there is a railway to be built. Some are small contractors, some are subcontractors, and the rest are common laborers."

Every one of the contractors or subcontractors, however, has a crew of men from their native land in Canada and the United States. Many of them have taken their education in railway building, some of the International borders, while some have had no experience in construction work either in Norway or in Sweden."

Are Also Tilling Soil.

In addition to the Scandinavians who are at work in the new railways of western there are a number who are settling the land and raising vegetables as a means of the soil, according to Mr. Dahl. He estimates that there are 40,000 Scandinavians in Alberta, an equal number in Saskatchewan and 5,000 in the Yukon and 5,000 in the western provinces. Not every one of them has come to Canada from Norway. Some Scandinavians have come from the United States where they went also and settled on homestead land. This they have been able to sell at high prices, some having sold their farms in the United States to secure another area of free farm property in Western Canada.

Dahl's paper, the "Norway," has a circulation throughout the west of about 25,000. It is the Scandinavian's farm journal as well as his weekly newspaper.

Constantinople Report Says They Have Already Entered City
—Newspaper Man Appalled by Atrocities of Italian Surrenders His Passports

New York, Nov. 8.—A cable from Malta says: "Francis McCullagh, a special London correspondent who has been working in Tripoli, has surrendered his passport because he was no longer able to endure the sight of the atrocities, says the situation of the Italian army in Tripoli is desperate. The Italian general, Tito, the son of Italy is now as dismal as the Italian subjection of the moon." On October 23rd, 24th, and 25th, there were attacks by Turks on Tripoli and the subjection of the city with arms by natives inside the city. The attack justified General Cavaria under military law in all out shooting of the rebels. The rebels were armed with arms in hand. Had Cavaria proceeded under military law, he would have found that at most, a hundred men were killed.

"But Cavaria, instead of that, exacted 4,000, very many of whom were women and children. The whole subjection was so severe that the soldiers laid low and did not even cry out every Arch they could find. Behind the Espario glass factory of the Bank of Rome lay a native village containing

CALGARY SYNOD NOW IN SESSION

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS COM-

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

(Western Associated Press)

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 8.—The opening of the twelfth annual session of Synod of Diocese of Calgary, here yesterday, was attended by three hundred clergymen, two hundred laymen, several hundred energy and lay-workers present. This is an indication of the remarkable growth of the organization church in Alberta. The Rev. Dr. J. C. McLean, president of the Diocese, addressed the assembly. The Rev. Dr. James, rector of the cathedral of Calvary, who in his report spoke of the Ne Temere decree, while admitting that any church or religious body was free to do as it pleased, nevertheless, in his opinion, was too far and further from its rights, by using such language in order to rights, he declared. He demanded an amendment to dislodge it, to be submitted to the members of the synod. The hospital of the executive committee adopted a similar resolution.

The assembly voted to give the Diocese a five thousand dollar loan to help the Diocese of Saskatchewan, which had come from the treasury of the Diocese of Vancouver.

The names of numerous prominent men and laymen were called upon to subscribe to liberal sums, but the laymen, who were well-grounded and generally prosperous appearance aroused suspicion, investigation by the public disclosed that the names were fictitious.

The proclama- tion also contains a provision for the belief that it is declared that Great Britain in terms of amicable intercourse will each of the belligerent powers, and that is the desire of his majesty that the blessings of peace should be preserved.

The proclamation also says: "We therefore command His Highness the Kink's proclamation to be read to the people of the British Colonies, in England, and instructions given by Sir Edward Grey, for the publication of the rules of neutrality. The admiralty has directed that no ships of war of either belligerent power may be allowed to use British ports or to roadstead in the territorial waters, or continental shelf, where ever they may be found, on behalf of the nation leaving a British port, no vessel of the other power may be allowed to leave until after the expiration of at least twenty-four hours."

Rules 3 and 5 demand with the manner of enforcing the provisions of clause 1, that in case of war, the government will declare the time of the outbreak of hostilities. Rule 5 provides that against the carrying of prizes of war into British ports.

The proclamation is based upon an act passed in the session of parliament held in the 33rd and 34th years of the reign of Queen Victoria, which contains the subjects of her majesty's subjects' rights during the existence of hostilities between foreign states with which her majesty is at peace." The proclamation is in the hands of the rebels while in rebel force is pressuring apparently in the direction of Pekin, and at a point on the railway where never before had been heard of. All military connection with the capital are threatened.

It is expected that the assassination of General Wu Lin Ching will lead to the recall of the remainder of his old staff division which is now with Yuan Shik Kai. The government, however, has not yet heard of any of imperial soldiers are now on their way to Hankow and these may be sufficient to prevent a mutiny. A hundred and fifty Englishmen are now in Pekin and two hundred more are now in Hankow.

Many Chinese are fleeing and troops are constantly moving in the vicinity of Peking. Pekin Will Fall Soon.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8.—The prediction that Pekin will fall within two weeks is made by Revolutionary leaders who have been here. An Englishman who has been here a week has informed them that he expects the fall of the city to occur early in the day. The Chinese believe this party is preparing the way for the arrival of the sun of salvation, the man who comes to bring justice. Many Chinese are fleeing and troops are constantly moving in the vicinity of Peking.

SOUTHERN MINERS ARE NOT WORKING

CROW'S NEST MINES STILL LYING UNWORKED; BIG OUTPUT WHEN STRIKE IS ENDED.

(Western Associated Press) Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 8.—For seven days now seven representatives of the miners or miners' agents have been laboring to arrive at the final settlement of the coal strike which last Wednesday entered on its eighth month, but no agreement has yet been arrived at. There are twenty-five companies in the association, some of them controlling eight or nine mines and in every mine there are conditions regarding special clauses in the proposed agreement.

mine operators have not been idle. In nearly every mine development work has been done, and the result has been that the mines open more easily and are in position to raise more coal daily than ever before. The probable daily output of coal is estimated to be close to 40,000 tons. The collieries at Lethbridge, Diamond City and Royal Victoria have raised coal daily since the Chinese and Indians gathered within six miles of the city have plans well under way which before the spring will raise over a thousand tons daily.

A syndicate of German capitalists headed by Baron Bruggen and Dr. Paul Fath have purchased coal land west of the city at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars, and will start in the spring to install a million dollar plant, Dawson City old timer, speaking to a Capital representative yesterday afternoon during the course of his short visit to the city on business in connection with the Presbyterian church of which he has been for years a prominent worker.

The impression of Edmonton as it looks to him is that it has been impressed upon the mind of Dr. Grant as a result of his four months' sojourn at the post on the banks of the Saskatchewan during the winter months. He has often referred to the place as "the most interesting town he has ever seen." The town is a well-traveled trail along the north bank of the Saskatchewan river. "I cannot see it now and can hardly bring myself to believe it is so, but it is," he says. "The town is so thoroughly covered with modern houses. In the old days we used to pick Saskatoon berries along the trail, and when we did, we would pinch these wild berries to take the place of beans and beans. But the berry bushes and the popular bush and the like have disappeared. The landscape of 25 years ago are gone now, and it seems that only the Saskatchewan river itself is in the place where he saw it in the place he first knew in the early days, he expressed the opinion yesterday afternoon that during the past four years there will be a change twenty-five times as great as the transition he has seen.

Now Financial Plan.

Last evening Dr. Grant, after hours of 7 and 8 o'clock, Dr. Grant addressed a meeting of Presbyterians in the First Presbyterian church with regard to a new plan of endowment for the church.

Dr. Grant said: "Throughout the day he was busy renewing old acquaintances, chiefly with Dawson old-timers. Who are old-timers? Dr. Grant has visited the best part of the past fifteen years in church and hospital work in Dawson City. He made the claim yesterday afternoon that before he left Dawson he had never been in Edmonton, but that he will be smothered in the country to the north of Edmonton. That undoubtedly will prove the greatest of all. There is no place in the world where the land has opened up and about which is more nothing is known."

On his trip to Edmonton, Dr. Grant was a young man, fresh from McGill college. He bought a buckskin bronco in Calgary early in the summer of '86, saw it broken before his own eyes by a professional trainer, and eliminated into his saddle as soon as the short training course was completed and proceeded to see the "north country." He rode the bronco fully mounted, and when he reached the city of the year. Four months of the time was spent in the vicinity of Edmonton, camped by way of the Canadian trail, which is still out in the same old and old fashioned ways of the fanners and plowed out of sight.

Development Marvelous.

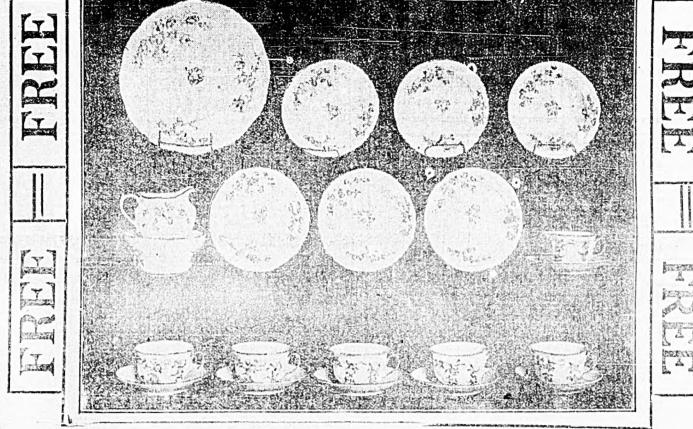

Upon his return to the Canadian west is simple to anyone who has been to the gold fields in the early days. He had full charge of the Presbyterian mission work in the north country for a period of 15 years, and during those 15 years he has been in charge of the hospital work in Dawson. His home is in Toronto, and although he has never been to Dawson, he has seen it from afar, and old-timers a number of times he never visited Edmonton since 25 years ago, and when he arrived here yesterday morning, and saw the changes he saw in the place he first knew in the early days, he expressed the opinion yesterday afternoon that during the past four years there will be a change twenty-five times as great as the transition he has seen.

Across the Saskatchewan Will Not Commence Construction of New Hospital This Year

Location and Erection of New Structure to be Decided by Hospital Board—Bull Moose Threatens Caretaker—Engineer Submits Report—Council Meeting

Strathcona, Nov. 8.—One of the features of the regular council session last night was the suspension of the evening o'clock rule. Not often has the council been so late in adjourning. The reason of this misfortune, however, last night's sitting was especially remarkable for its duration. Every variety of subject from the dimensions of a hall needed in Riverside Park to the Pigeon Lake gravity system was touched upon and embellished with varying degrees of oratory. The most interesting item, however, was a discussion of some fairly important questions were discussed.

By unanimous vote of a motion of Alderman Tipton, the council practically decided to make no start upon the municipal hospital this year although tenders were called a few days ago for the execution of the building. For the municipal committee Alderman Vassell brought in a report recommending that the new building be faced north on Fourth avenue, situated on the south side of the street. It was voted that the building be placed in such a position as to will assume the responsibility of erection and location." Alderman Rankin and Loughlin objected to the new building being placed in such a position as to assume the responsibility of erection and location.

Alderman Tipton, however, voted sixteen in Ward three. While on this subject Alderman Tipton spoke of the great advantages which would be gained by the plans of the hospital as presented by the architect. He considered these plans excellent for the initial unit until it was later to expand into a three-storied building.

The maximum amount of sunlight will be afforded as well as the maximum in accommodation and equipment for the public as well as the patients.

After the report was voted down, it was decided to take the necessary steps for the appointment of a hospital board such as was suggested last spring. It is proposed that the members of the committee be appointed to a three-man board.

In the evening Alderman Tipton gave notice that he would introduce for the purpose of having the persons on this board ratified by the burgesses. In KUBELIK IS COMING.

If things turn out as he hopes Jan Kubelik, who is scheduled to make his appearance in concert in Edmonton at the end of November, will be here to take his initial ride in a rushing aeroplane some time in the not distant future. This gifted young artist has announced his desire for so long to make Mr. Kubelik known that he is virtually at risk to flying in a thoroughly tested machine, operated by an expert or ample experience.

The musician's wife and having well defined notions of her own, Mrs. Kubelik has not yet been convinced that she should yield to the desire of her husband to make such as she likes to grant him even reasonable wish as expressed. "It is a great risk," said the musician's wife a few days ago, "and I see no wisdom in saying 'yes' when 'no' sounds so much better" to such a suggestion.

But Kubelik, being the owner of several pedigreed bulldozers and keenly appreciating the quality of tenacity, is hoping that Mrs. Kubelik will experience a change of mind. And that being the case he has purchased an aviator's equipment and is ready to meet his obligations, which he feels it is domestically safe to do so.

The violinist has stated that he will go to the aviation field at once soon after his return to Europe, and once there he is likely as not to disregard wifely and managerial objections in the excitement that is said to affect one with the aeroplane germ.

CORRESPONDENCE

GRADUATE NURSE DIRECTORY.

To the Editor of The Capital:

Sir:—A book entitled "Graduated Nurses Directory" (Edmonton, Alta.) is being circulated in this city and in many Edmonton firms have advertised it under the impression that it was being issued by the Edmonton association of Graduate Nurses. It is, however, the opinion of the association that the book is not correct and is therefore misleading, as it gives names and addresses of nurses published without the consent or knowledge of the Edmonton association of Graduate Nurses, and that the association will not stand behind the publication of such publication. The list of graduate nurses given in the book is not correct and is therefore misleading, as it gives names and addresses of nurses published without the consent or knowledge of the Edmonton association of Graduate Nurses is at Mr. Smith's drugstore, First street, and any other source of directory information is available. It might be noted that the association believes in patronizing home industry, and that the book in question was not printed in Canada.

Thank you on behalf of the association for the courtesy extended in publishing this communication. I am yours truly,

LILIAN C. ARMSTRONG,
Sec. E. A. of G.N.

LOCAL HOCKEYISTS ARE DISCUSSING ORGANIZATION

Probably Two Edmonton Teams in the Provincial League
Everybody Scared to Start a Semi-Professional League, Expecting to Get Left

They run four hockey teams in Edmonton which will most certainly be beaten out again this year, said Austin Young last night in discussing the prospects. Two teams with two from Calgary will be plenty and is the only kind of prospectus that can be had at present. Any two teams in the provincial league it would leave the nucleus for a good local league from which the provincial club draws.

It would be if our local boys are a little behind hand this season with their organization, but though nothing official has been done, the prospectives of different local players are being discussed by the powers that be. Deacon is out to raise a team that will skip anywhere in the province and he expects to start from two or three eastern stars in a few days.

Another subject that came up for discussion around that old camp last night was the formation of a semi-professional league. Everybody seemed to favor it but doubted whether it could be made a success. As Anse Young put it, "Anybody who wants to have a semi-pro team but they are all scared to start it. Each team is looking to the other to make the first move. It is a vicious circle. If one team had the courage to even think something about it, who laughs best."

DO NOT APPROVE OF DUKE'S CHOICE

British Polo Experts Do Not Rate Highly—Polo Team Proposed by Duke of Westminster and Unless Changes Are Made the Americans Will Keep the Cup

London, Nov. 8.—The Duke of Gloucester is not being crowded with confidence in his chances of winning the International Polo Cup at the next attempt which will be made next year.

The Burlington Club with shortly hold a meeting in connection with the English polo experts to decide what steps America must take before the close of this year, but though it is practically certain that the challenge will be sent, it is not at all sure that it will have the moral support of English polo players as a body.

This all depends on the action of the Duke of Westminster. As announced some months ago, the Duke offered to undertake the financial responsibility, and he very soon after sending back the cup, it became incredible that he could allow himself to be persuaded to let it out to him, which he was not by a long chalk include a player who had not even won a minor tournament in England.

One of them who witnessed the Meadow Brook contest said today:

"Judging by the international standard, the cup must be classed as a dead loss. It could have no possible chance of success in America, and as the Duke of Westminster is believed to be very keen about getting back the cup, it is almost incredible that he could allow himself to be persuaded to let it out to him, which he was not by a long chalk include a player who had not even won a minor tournament in England."

Last summer, it will be remembered, the American polo experts refused to assign to the Duke of Westminster the cup unless the Americans retained the cup.

The London Times this week, among other things, plainly suggested that if the arrangements at present in view were carried out, the challenging team would be found in the hands of the Duke of Westminster's players," says the article.

"One looks in vain for a team which could expect to live with the best English and Canadian polo players, and it is believed by far too many to mature in form worthy the national enterprise to so obviously have undertaken."

These diplomatic phrases simply mean that The London Times' policy is right, and it should be added that the English players don't believe that they showed that the present players are likely to be crowded with confidence to their team if they want to go all the way to the Pacific coast."

The Deacons, winners of the City League, will reorganize sometime within the next ten days, and expect to be strong enough to compete with those who are more hockey players in the city this season and consequently more competition for places. The senior team, The Knights, is the one playing right into the manager's hands, and he will be able to hold a club over his team that they will be fired out if they don't want to play to the rules.

The Mercurials will meet with its annual meeting early next month and the prospects are bright. In addition to the provincial and territorial leagues, there will be the city leagues which the Retailers, Bankers, YMCA, and other former provincial league teams will participate.

Gordon Hunter, who played with the Deacons last season has come south to play in Calgary. He will line up with the St. Mary's team already making a name for itself, making known what Calgary will do to Edmonton.

In defining our headgear to Mr. Deacon we would respectfully call his team the "Knights" and the others "the Knights" and the others "the

BRITISH FOOT-BALL REVIEW

The not altogether unexpected result at Tynemouth — the team of Middlesbrough lost their unbeaten record. It had been touch and go for the last three home matches, and it was lost to a better team. John Pilkirk, who came along, and Pilkirk had to make his place, is far from being a weakling, and Pilkirk had to find a substitute for Orrery, who is under suspension. Middlesbrough, naturally, scored while the game was young. A really good goal it was. He had had a try at Alton, and had been driven off by a small number of spectators, but a gallant effort could be expected his next shot, the ball being beautifully placed midway between the goalkeeper and goal-line.

The Hearts were strong tryers, but their forward play was never convincing.

Dawson blundering at outside-right, Murray and Smith utterly failing to time his wild dashes in the centre, After Pilkirk got the lead into the turn, however, Middlesbrough got four or five others, and the "Hearts" section of the crowd of 12,000 strong were shouting encouragement for all they were worth. It was useless, though, both teams again halting.

It was up, the record was up, the season was finished and Pilkirk had won, and won well, their best victory of the season by 4 to 1.

Merton were the best of winners.

They had not a very large audience, but the half hour, and all because they were playing a winning game.

Kilmarnock have their goals to keep to bring them through.

It was very near the goal-line when Terrance had the first goal, Sinn had saved a hard shot, and had run out to do so, but before he could get back, the ball had gone past him.

The keeper was in no sense to blame. Even after that Kilmarnock might have equalized but for dilly-dallying behind the scenes in drawing a save which they ought to have made their own in the first half. Two goals were off the score sheet, and all four were scored during the closing half-hour, during which the 13,000 spectators, who had previously seen little to inspire them, were roused to wild excitement.

The first half had a goalless end, but there was plenty of excitement during the second, and the last 15 minutes Liverpool defended steadily under persistent pressure, but when they got through and beat the helpless Davidson, things looked brighter. The Wednesdays were always the better Airdrie goal, but found a very Horatio of Edwards, who did not let go, but it finished there, and Rangers remained undefeated.

Bundes, regarding Kirkaldy more or less as a little brother, was with some heart-burning that Dundee admitted Raith Rovers to terms of equality in the division, and having done so, each team winning at home. It is quite a likely occurrence that Raith Rovers would continue the sequence of wins, and Dundee would be drawn down. It was a most game and both sides of forwards shewed pretty flashes. The second half favored the home team.

Defence was predominant at Parkhead, but one feels safe in pronouncing Celtic's narrow win satisfactory, because the game was a really good football that was a shade better than anything seen in the game. Celtic opened with a brisk attack, which was checked, and Celtic tactics in the second half were not particularly good. Aberdeen forwards developed attack, and Davidson had a try for goal, but had just gotten over the bar, when he was pulled down. McNaughton, however, had individual effort, and subsequently Scott saved a brilliant shot from Donnachie. Chances of winning came to both teams, but there were ignored, and at the end of the Old Trafford game the first gained in League warfare in Liverpool.

The supporters of Bury cannot criticise the club's action in parting with William Hibbert, seeing that there is an overdraft on the bank of $15,000, and Hibbert has not been fit when he has been fit, and the attendance at Gigg Lane has been most disappointing. Manchester was won by the one goal, and the 1000 spectators were present for a 30-minute curtain-holding the marksmen. Bury shewed plenty of pluck, but still they were inferior to the league champions. Manchester had the better of the game, and the forwards played sprightly football, West especially being on the top of his form.

For a mid-week football match the record attendance was at the replayed tie between Bradford and Newcastle at Old Trafford in April last, when 66,649 spectators were present.

The Canadians' two goals were the first made by the British Columbia players on their present trip, both games last week with the university of California.

CITY'S BUSINESS $505.72 PER CAPITA

JUNIOR CENSUS AND BANK CLEAR GS FOR MONTH OF NOV.
THAT CITY IS PROSPEROUS.

Using the factors of the recent Dominion census and the bank clearings for the month of October, Mr. George Fisher, the head of the Dominion Bank, has come to the conclusion that the per capita amount of business done in Edmonton, is larger than that done in any other city in the Dominion of Canada, with the exception of Windsor.

CHARGE WITH FRAUD.

Charge and trial against terms of the sum of $2000. Gusek, defendant, will be arraigned before Judge Taylor in the district court at Strathcona tomorrow morning.

The accused, H. J. Gusek, was jointly responsible with John Schmidt of Strathearn for a charge of "fraudulent intent to defraud" made against him. The offence took place at Strathearn on Monday.

North Dakota Republicans are slightly worried over the possibility of George W. Johnson, who has headed the Democratic ticket in view of three successive campaigns, may choose to be a candidate for a fourth term.
